Special Projects Editor

About Tim:

Tim Lambert has been with WITF since August 2001. He was promoted to the position of Special Projects Editor in 2022. Lambert also gets up at “0-dark-30” to help listeners start their day as Morning Edition host.

He is a six-time recipient of the Radio Television Digital News Association’s (RTDNA) National Edward R. Murrow Award for excellence in digital and broadcast journalism and serves as one of four national coaches for the Trusting News project. Tim’s reporting has also been honored on the state, regional and national levels.

The Aliquippa native is a graduate of the Indiana University of Pennsylvania. Tim has been working in broadcast journalism since 1993, with stints in Lewistown and Gettysburg.

Tim can speak to your organization about:

Journalism: Journalism is facing several challenges – from the reduction of the number of journalists covering communities to building trust and transparency to tackling threats to democracy amid a growing tide of misinformation. Learn how a modern newsroom operates and how WITF is strengthening its service to the public.

Flight 93: As the nation tried to make sense of the terrorist attacks on September 11, Tim Lambert learned one hijacked jetliner – Flight 93 – crashed on a portion of land that had been in his family for three generations. Hear how Tim balanced his role as a journalist and landowner to assist the victims’ families as plans moved forward to build a national memorial on the site.
